Market overview

The S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index closed down 2.2% for the month. Australian September labour data released was disappointing, with total employment falling by 10,000 and the full-time job figures falling by 53,000 – the biggest drop since April 2011. Better than expected September quarter consumer price inflation (CPI) data reduced the chance of further interest rate cuts and put downward pressure on local equities. In the US, oil climbed above US$50 a barrel for the first time since June this year as declines in US crude inventories lifted hopes the global glut may clear. More recently, the surprise US presidential election result has led to market volatility globally. With a high degree of uncertainty regarding if and how election policies are implemented, we expect continued market volatility in the short and medium term.

Stock news

Merger and acquisition activity continued in October with mining services company Bradken Limited (ASX: BKN) announcing it had entered into an implementation agreement with Japanese construction company Hitachi Construction Machinery Company Limited. Hitachi has agreed to make an all cash off-market takeover for Bradken of $3.25 per share. Bradken is likely to benefit from its cost reduction program and the increase in capital expenditure by mining companies globally.

One-for-one option issue

In August the Company announced a one-for-one bonus option issue to all shareholders at no cost. Options entitle holders to purchase additional ordinary shares in WAM Active at the exercise price of $1.14 at any time on or before 17 September 2018. The options commenced trading on the ASX under the code WAAO on 20 September 2016. The bonus option issue is an effective way to grow the Company and will deliver benefits to shareholders. As the Company's size increases, on-market liquidity for the shares is expected to increase. It will also increase the Company's relevance in the market, improve the prospect of broker and research coverage, and gain interest from financial planners.
