Dear Fellow Shareholders,

The 2022 financial year was a volatile and challenging period for equity markets. It was impacted by coronavirus lockdowns and restrictions, geopolitical tensions in Eastern Europe, along with concerns with rising inflation and interest rates. The S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index fell 19.5%, the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index fell 7.4%, the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index was down 6.5% and the MSCI World Index (AUD) decreased 6.5%. We experienced a period of high volatility in equity markets during the year, with the volatility of the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index increasing 38.9%, as measured by standard deviation. The S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index's standard deviation was 15.0% in FY22 versus 10.8% in the prior year.

The calendar year began with elevated company valuations, liquidity and strong earnings, even though the recent market volatility, inflation and interest rate rises have driven valuations lower and has seen liquidity tighten. However, company earnings still remain high. As we enter FY23, we are in the early stages of equity markets lowering embedded earnings expectations, with central banks continuing to use their limited tools to target rising inflation by aggressively increasing interest rates. They acknowledge the only way to reduce a largely supply side driven inflation problem is to lower consumer demand, which could be a challenging journey and damaging for economies.

In times of market volatility it is important to maintain a long-term view. We are taking a cautious outlook and have steadily increased our listed investment companies' (LIC) cash weightings to withstand increasing volatility and ensure necessary liquidity in our investment portfolios, which will not make us immune to the effects of an equity bear market. We remain focused on our proven investment process and continue to identify undervalued opportunities in the market.

W | A | M Leaders

Actively investing in the highest quality Australian companies.

The WAM Leaders (ASX: WLE) investment portfolio decreased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX200 Accumulation Index. As global markets moved lower in June, we took the opportunity to increase our holdings in Telstra Corporation (ASX: TLS) and Lendlease Group (ASX: LLC).

Telstra Corporation is Australia's leading telecommunications service provider to consumers, businesses and government. While WAM Leaders has held Telstra Corporation over an extended period of time, given the defensiveness of its existing earnings, improving subscriber growth trends, mobile price increases and the roaming revenue recovery well under way, we view this as a more compelling investment in the current market. Telstra Corporation and TPG Telecom (ASX: TPG) recently announced a landmark network sharing agreement with payments to Telstra Corporation of over $1.6 billion over the next decade, which we view as a further positive indicator for industry rationality and returns.

Lendlease Group is a global real estate company with development, construction and investment operations. We opportunistically increased our holding in Lendlease Group given its recent share price declines. We believe the recent sell-off in Lendlease Group's shares is overdone, as it now trades below its March 2020 coronavirus trough. The ASX real estate sector has been trumped only by the technology sector in terms of underperformance over the last six months. This is unsurprising given the impact of bond yields on asset values and the cyclical nature of development pipelines and office and retail rents. However, we believe the intrinsic valuation of Lendlease Group is higher than what it currently trades at. This is due to the company being 90% hedged to interest rate increases, its continued execution of its restructure program, and its robust growth profile over the coming years, targeting $8.0 billion in annual production by FY2024. The biggest risk for Lendlease Group is its margin profile, with construction costs remaining elevated. We believe its dominant market position will stand the company in good stead compared against its smaller peers and risks associated with the company's margin profile are already priced into current expectations.

W | A | M Capital

The most compelling undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Capital (ASX: WAM) investment portfolio decreased during the month. Australian-based leisure company Ardent Leisure Group (ASX: ALG) was a contributor to the investment portfolio performance, while specialist management solutions company Smartgroup Corporation (ASX: SIQ) was a detractor.

Ardent Leisure Group owns and operates leisure and entertainment businesses in Australia including theme parks such as Dreamworld, WhiteWater World and SkyPoint. During the month, Ardent Leisure Group announced the completion of the sale of its US business, Main Event Entertainment, to Dave & Buster's Entertainment (NASDAQ: PLAY). Ardent Leisure Group traded ex-return of capital and ex-dividend on 5 July 2022, with shareholders receiving 95 cents per share from the proceeds of the sale. With Ardent Leisure Group's theme parks being materially impacted throughout the coronavirus pandemic, we believe the business is in a strong position to capitalise on a recovering domestic and international tourism sector. The company's operating cost base has been structurally lowered, with reinvestment in the rides and attractions, and improving public perception, which we expect to underpin a strong recovery in its profitability in FY2023. We believe Ardent Leisure Group's current share price materially undervalues the company relative to global peers, while opportunity exists to unlock further value via development of excess land assets.

Smartgroup Corporation provides salary packaging, fleet management and a range of other employee benefit services for organisations across Australia. In June, Smartgroup Corporation's share price came under pressure after it announced that the Department of Education and Training Victoria will not renew its contract with the company. This is a rare occasion where Smartgroup Corporation has been unsuccessful against its competitors. The arrangement is expected to come to an end in the coming months with an estimated earnings impact of less than 5% in the 2023 calendar year. While the announcement will impact Smartgroup Corporation's short-term earnings and market sentiment, a recovery in new vehicle supply, a robust pipeline of novated leases and a cost-out targeted under the company's smart future program are expected to underpin its earnings growth over the medium-term.

W | A | M Global

The world's most compelling undervalued growth companies.

The WAM Global (ASX: WGB) investment portfolio decreased during the month, outperforming the MSCI World Index (AUD). Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included specialty contractor and infrastructure solutions provider Quanta Services (NYSE: PWR) and global mission-critical products provider Avantor (NYSE: AVTR).

Quanta Services is a leading specialty contractor that provides fully integrated infrastructure solutions for the electric power, underground utility and communication industries. Quanta Services is a key enabler to the energy transition toward renewables with the largest workforce in North America. Trends that will drive the company's long-term growth include utility grid modernisation, renewable generation, expansion and integration, electric vehicles, communications and 5G, and outsourcing. In June, US President Joe Biden announced a two-year pause on imposing any new tariffs on imported solar panels. This followed an investigation into foreign manufacturers circumventing solar tariffs, which had stalled solar development projects in the US. The announcement provided a positive catalyst for the company as it cleared uncertainty surrounding delays on its solar projects. We continue to be positive on Quanta Services and believe the company can outperform its targets of 5% to 8% organic revenue growth, improve its profits margins and deliver double-digit earnings per share (EPS) growth.

Avantor provides mission-critical products and services to customers in the biopharma, healthcare, education, government, advanced technologies and applied materials industries. The company's portfolio of products are embedded in almost every stage of the most important functions of the industries it serves including research, scale-up and manufacturing. Leveraging their global third party product distribution platform, Avantor is able to scale both internally developed and acquired proprietary products, a core driver of their value creation strategy. Avantor's business model is driven by consumables, which require regular replacement. Over 85% of their revenue is recurring which creates a resilient earnings profile. At an investor conference during the month, CEO Michael Stubblefield reiterated their recently increased full year guidance of 4% to 6% organic growth and 5% to 9% adjusted EPS growth, and reaffirmed that business momentum remains strong. We believe the company is well positioned to defensibly grow earnings through time whilst being attractively priced.

W | A | M Microcap

The most exciting undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian micro-cap market.

The WAM Microcap (ASX: WMI) investment portfolio decreased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio included sustainability solutions business Close The Loop (ASX: CLG) and Ridley Corporation (ASX: RIC).

Close The Loop is an end-to-end solutions provider from design and manufacturing, through to the collection and recycling of waste products across a variety of markets. In June, the company provided a trading update ahead of its inaugural Investor Day, upgrading its FY2022 revenue to $82 million and increasing its earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) prospectus forecasts by 10.5% to $13.6 million. The upgrade was driven by strong organic growth across all divisions, particularly in the US and Europe packaging and recycling segment. The company noted a strong outlook, with an annual revenue run-rate of over $100 million. Growth is expected to be further augmented via bolt-on acquisitions, with term sheets signed on three potential deals. Close The Loop is under-researched with no broker coverage and over time, this provides a catalyst to drive a further share price re-rating.

Ridley Corporation is Australia's largest commercial provider of high performance animal nutrition solutions. In June, Ridley Corporation attracted attention from other companies seeking to purchase its shares following speculation that AGR Partners, a substantial shareholder of the business, is looking to exit. At the end of May, Ridley Corporation announced its FY2023 to FY2025 growth plan which supports the ongoing earnings momentum of the business. The framework for Ridley Corporation's capital allocation under its growth plan is expected to allow the company to deliver a total shareholder return of over 15% per annum and an increase in indicative dividend payment ratio of 40-60% to 50-70% of net profit after tax. We remain confident in the outlook for Ridley Corporation and its Chief Executive Officer Quinton Hildebrand who, in our view, has executed strongly to date via divesting unprofitable business units and structurally lowering costs, thus underpinning organic growth.

W | A | M Alternative Assets

Unique opportunities beyond traditional assets

The WAM Alternative Assets (ASX: WMA) investment portfolio increased during the month, driven by the performance of its real assets investments. Since the end of June, WAM Alternative Assets began deploying capital to its investment partner, Barwon Investment Partners, in the Barwon Institutional Healthcare Property Fund (BIHPF).

Barwon Investment Partners is a boutique fund manager focused on Australian real estate. Healthcare real estate has attractive fundamentals, supported by the growing demand for healthcare services driven by a growing ageing population, which is one of the long-term megatrends WAM Alternative Assets invests in. In Australia there is a restricted supply of assets in healthcare real estate and investing and managing those assets requires specialist skills. Since inception of the fund in 2016, Barwon has built a strong track record, delivering investment returns of approximately 15% per annum to its investors, including an income return of approximately 5% per annum.

The healthcare real estate sector differentiates itself by long lease contracts, of often over 10 years, fixed or consumer price index (CPI) linked rental increases, and the potential for further capital appreciation. BIHPF is a growing portfolio with over $1 billion of assets under management which includes 22 high quality healthcare real estate assets with quality tenants, including Healthe Care Australia, various State Governments and Calvary. Over 60% of the portfolio's operating income is linked to CPI, including leases with annual increases greater than CPI. In the current economic environment with rising inflation and increasing uncertainty in the investment markets, this exposure provides downside protection as well as a natural inflation hedge. WAM Alternative Assets committed $15 million to BIHPF in FY2021 and looks forward to deploying the residual commitment of $12.4 million in the fund in FY2023 based on Barwon's robust pipeline of new deals.

W | A | M Strategic Value

Discounted asset opportunities.

The WAM Strategic Value (ASX: WAR) investment portfolio decreased in June. During the month WAM Strategic Value's holding, Absolute Equity Performance Fund (ASX: AEG), announced it has entered into a Scheme Implementation Agreement to merge with WAM Leaders (ASX: WLE). AEG is a listed investment company with an investment portfolio of Australian listed securities, with the aim of achieving absolute returns regardless of market conditions. Under the proposal, WAM Leaders will acquire 100% of AEG through a Scheme of Arrangement (Scheme) and AEG shareholders will receive new WAM Leaders shares as consideration for their AEG shares. The proposed merger follows AEG's consultation process announced on 16 February 2022, under which the AEG Board and its advisors evaluated a range of alternatives with a view to maximise value for all AEG shareholders. The Scheme allows WAM Strategic Value to exit its position in AEG at a premium to AEG's pre-tax net tangible assets and a premium to the share price of AEG, after acquiring its position in AEG at a weighted average discount to NTA of 12.6%.

In June, volatility in equity markets continued with the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index decreasing 9.4%, underperforming the MSCI World Index (AUD) which fell 4.7% during the month. Despite the outperformance of global equity markets, listed investment companies with global equity market exposure were impacted during the month by the share market volatility more broadly, with their average discount to NTA widening in June. This was apparent in WAM Strategic Value's holding in VGI Partners Global Investments (ASX: VG1). VG1's share price fell 6.1% in June, despite its June 2022 NTA decreasing 1.6%, with the underlying share price discount to NTA widening to 20.5% as a result. During the month, VG1's investment manager VGI Partners successfully completed its merger with Regal Funds Management on 3 June 2022, following shareholder approval. The merged entity has been renamed Regal Partners (ASX: RPL) and VGI Partners Executive Chairman and Chief Investment Officer Robert Luciano has resigned as a director of VG1, allowing him to focus on managing the investment portfolio.

Look-through NTA before tax

The Australian Accounting standards require the Company's pre-tax NTA to be calculated based on the market price (or share price) of the underlying investment portfolio. The Company's look-through pre-tax NTA is an estimation of the Company's pre-tax NTA calculated using the estimated or most recently available pre-tax NTA of the underlying investment portfolio as at the end of the month. The look-through pre-tax NTA of the Company is indicative only and provides an estimate for investors of the value of the underlying investment portfolio, assuming the share price discount to NTA of the underlying discounted asset opportunities are closed.

The most compelling undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Research (ASX: WAX) investment portfolio decreased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio included Australian-based leisure company Ardent Leisure Group (ASX: ALG) and IPH Limited (ASX: IPH).

Ardent Leisure Group owns and operates leisure and entertainment businesses in Australia including theme parks such as Dreamworld, WhiteWater World and SkyPoint. During the month, Ardent Leisure Group announced the completion of the sale of its US business, Main Event Entertainment, to Dave & Buster's Entertainment (NASDAQ: PLAY). Ardent Leisure Group traded ex-return of capital and ex-dividend on 5 July 2022, with shareholders receiving 95 cents per share from the proceeds of the sale. With Ardent Leisure Group's theme parks being materially impacted throughout the coronavirus pandemic, we believe the business is in a strong position to capitalise on a recovering domestic and international tourism sector. The company's operating cost base has been structurally lowered, with reinvestment in the rides and attractions, and improving public perception, which we expect to underpin a strong recovery in its profitability in FY2023. We believe Ardent Leisure Group's current share price materially undervalues the company relative to global peers, while opportunity exists to unlock further value via development of excess land assets.

IPH is Asia Pacific's leading intellectual property services group, comprising a network of member firms, servicing more than 25 countries. While no fundamental news was announced, the shares rebounded strongly in June which we believe was a result of currency tailwinds, with IPH invoicing the vast majority of their clients in USD. Global markets moved lower in June, following news of continued interest rate rises and rising inflation, and sentiment gravitated towards businesses with more resilient earnings profiles that have historically proven themselves capable of delivering organic growth in tougher economic environments.

Market mispricing opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Active (ASX: WAA) investment portfolio decreased during the month. Specialist management solutions company Smartgroup Corporation (ASX: SIQ) was a detractor, while online marketplace for cars carsales.com (ASX: CAR) announced positive news with its plans to buy 100% of US-based RV and powersports marketplace platform Trader Interactive.

Smartgroup Corporation provides salary packaging, fleet management and a range of other employee benefit services for organisations across Australia. In June, Smartgroup Corporation's share price came under pressure after it announced that the Department of Education and Training Victoria will not renew its contract with the company. This is a rare occasion where Smartgroup Corporation has been unsuccessful against its competitors. The arrangement is expected to come to an end in the coming months with an estimated earnings impact of less than 5% in the 2023 calendar year. While the announcement will impact Smartgroup Corporation's short-term earnings and market sentiment, a recovery in new vehicle supply, a robust pipeline of novated leases and a cost-out targeted under the company's smart future program are expected to underpin its earnings growth over the medium-term.

carsales.com operates the largest online automotive, motorcycle and marine classified business in Australia, along with Trader Interactive (TI), a US-based marketplace business that has a leading position in the recreational vehicle, powersports, commercial truck and equipment markets. In June, the company announced it would exercise its call option to acquire the remaining 51% interest in TI it does not already own for $1.2 billion, funded via an equity raise. The transaction is expected to be completed in the first quarter of FY2023 with the acquisition providing immediate low, double digit earnings per share accretion, including tax and interest benefits. We are positive on this strategic transaction for the company, with the move to 100% ownership in TI expected to unlock a range of additional growth opportunities for the business. carsales.com also provided a trading update during the month, with FY2022 earnings guidance in-line with consensus analyst expectations. Despite broader macroeconomic uncertainty, the company noted strong momentum across all markets into FY2023 and we believe earnings will prove more resilient versus market expectations.
