Dear Fellow Shareholders,

Global equities rose in August, supported by accommodative central bank policies, which continues to be dictated by the economic impacts of the Delta variant. The month was marked by the dramatic end of the 20-year war in Afghanistan. Our thoughts are with the stateless refugees, Afghan civilians, and soldiers, who have endured devastating turmoil and a harrowing loss of family, friends, culture and heritage.

The MSCI World Index (AUD) closed up 3.1% for the month, and in local terms, the US S&P 500 Index up 2.9%, the Euro Stoxx 50 Index 2.6%, Japan's TOPIX Index 3.1% and the UK FTSE 100 Index 1.2%. China's CSI 300 Index closed down 0.1%. The S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index rose 2.6% in August, as the reporting season saw a significant return of capital to shareholders, few profit upgrades and cautious outlook statements.

The WAM Research investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio performance included global retailer City Chic Collective (ASX: CCX) and entertainment, hospitality and leisure services provider EVENT Hospitality & Entertainment (ASX: EVT).

City Chic Collective, a global omni-channel retailer specialising in plus-size apparel, accessories and footwear for women, delivered strong sales and customer acquisition growth in its FY2021 results. The company announced sales growth of 33%, a 61% increase in customers and a 68% increase in customer website traffic on the prior 12-month period. The strong result reflected City Chic Collective's expanded online product offering and entry into the UK market through the acquisition of local market leader, Evans. Importantly, the company's diversified global footprint has minimised the impact of lockdown enforced store closures in Australia, with 44% of sales recorded outside of Australia and New Zealand. We believe the company is well positioned to expand its market share and benefit from Australian and global consumer strength.

EVENT Hospitality & Entertainment owns and operates cinemas in Australia, New Zealand and Germany, and operates over 70 hotels and leisure venues in Australia. The company reported its full year results in August, achieving normalised earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) of $27.2 million. Despite the ongoing interstate and international travel restrictions, EVENT Hospitality & Entertainment's hotels located across Australia experienced significant quarter-on-quarter improvement. Its leisure venue, the Thredbo Alpine Resort, posted a record full year revenue with the 2020-21 summer mountain biking and hiking season resulting in record visitation and mountain biking revenue. We remain positive on EVENT Hospitality & Entertainment due to the robust property portfolio, potential further divestments of non-core assets as well as a rebound in cinema visitations post the lock-downs.

The most compelling undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Capital investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included global retailer City Chic Collective (ASX: CCX) and online automotive marketplace carsales.com (ASX: CAR).

City Chic Collective, a global omni-channel retailer specialising in plus-size apparel, accessories and footwear for women, delivered strong sales and customer acquisition growth in its FY2021 results. The company announced sales growth of 33%, a 61% increase in customers and a 68% increase in customer website traffic on the prior 12-month period. We believe the company is well positioned to expand its market share and benefit from Australian and global consumer strength.

carsales.com operates the largest online automotive, motorcycle and marine classified business in Australia. In its August result, the company announced adjusted FY2021 earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) grew by 10% on the prior year and the highest annual growth in net profit after tax (NPAT) in seven years. Car buyers and sellers in Australia, South Korea and Brazil used its sites at record levels as the coronavirus pandemic has accelerated migration to digital platforms for car sales. During the year, carsales.com announced the 49% acquisition of Trader Interactive, a US-based marketplace business that has a leading position in the recreational vehicle, powersports, commercial truck and equipment markets.

W | A | M Leaders

Actively investing in the highest quality Australian companies.

The WAM Leaders investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included insurers QBE Insurance Group (ASX: QBE) and Suncorp Group (ASX: SUN), integrated resort company The Star Entertainment Group (ASX: SGR) and mining and metals company South32 (ASX: S32).

The insurance sector performed strongly in August, with reporting season demonstrating that premium rates are strong, volumes are stable and margins are improving. QBE's result provided clear evidence of its significant leverage to the strongest commercial premium rate cycle in the last decade, with top-line growth exceeding inflation claims and driving a near doubling of underlying underwriting profits compared to the previous year. Suncorp Group announced an increased final dividend and a $250 million share buyback, highlighting management's confidence in improving underlying trends across both the insurance and banking divisions. We remain positive on the outlook for general insurance, with catalysts for potential coronavirus provision releases, ongoing improvements in profitability and bond yield exposure.

The Star Entertainment Group benefited from a number of value creation opportunities in August. In its full year result, the company was impacted by recent lockdowns across Australia, although demonstrated that demand returns to pre-coronavirus levels in periods of lower restriction, on a reduced cost base. SGR also announced a potential sale and leaseback of its Sydney casino, which could realise approximately $2 billion in value for shareholders. The company is also in formal negotiations with the NSW Government to increase the number of gaming machines at The Star Sydney from 1,500 to 2,500. We remain positive about SGR's outlook given the potential for earnings recovery as we exit lockdowns, the company's strategic optionality and attractive valuation.

South32 derives almost half of its cash earnings from aluminium and alumina output. In August, aluminium prices surged to 10-year highs as smelters in China face tighter controls on energy consumption to meet green targets. Driven by strong demand and news flow on supply disruptions, aluminium prices have almost doubled in the last year and contributed to South32 announcing a strong result in August. Through both dividends and an ongoing share buyback, South32 will have returned to shareholders approximately $800 million, or 8% of its market capitalisation, in the 2021 calendar year.

W | A | M Global

The world's most compelling undervalued growth companies.

The WAM Global investment portfolio increased during the month, with significant contributors including infrastructure services company Quanta Services (NYSE: PWR) and US home improvement retailer Lowe's (NYSE: LOW).

Quanta Services provides specialty contracting services and infrastructure solutions to the utility, communications, energy and oil pipeline industries. With a workforce of nearly 40,000, the company has primary operations in the US and Canada, and exposure to Australia and Latin America. In August, Quanta beat earnings expectations, reporting record second quarter revenue of USD3 billion and net income of USD117 million, primarily driven by its Electric Power Infrastructure Solutions segment. The company also raised its full year earnings guidance to USD12.2-12.5 billion. We remain positive on Quanta and its opportunities in grid modernisation and 5G network deployment. In early September, Quanta announced it will acquire Blattner, the largest utility-scale renewable infrastructure contractor in North America, for USD2.7 billion, which will be funded by approximately USD2.36 billion of cash and the issue of USD340 million in new shares. The transaction multiple and earnings accretion are attractive. The acquisition further increases the company's exposure to the fast growing utility-scale solar and wind generation and energy storage markets.

Lowe's is the second largest home improvement retailer in North America, serving 20 million customers per week and operating more than 2,200 stores with a workforce of over 300,000 associates. In August, Lowe's announced an earnings beat with USD3 billion in net second quarter earnings, with sales in its trades professional-focused Pros division up 21%. The company also reported second quarter diluted earnings per share of USD4.25, a 13% increase on the prior year. Lowe's increased its full year 2021 guidance, with revenue of $92 billion, gross profit margins up slightly compared to prior year and an operating margin of 12.2%. The company also announced a share buyback of at least USD9 billion. We believe Lowe's can continue to consolidate the highly fragmented USD900 billion home improvement market and increase its market share through its focus on digital solutions and attracting trades professionals as well as retail shoppers.

W | A | M Microcap

The most exciting undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian micro-cap market.

The WAM Microcap investment portfolio increased during the month, with significant contributors to the investment portfolio performance including entertainment operator Ardent Leisure (ASX: ALG). We also provide an update on pre-initial public offering (IPO) investment opportunity Iris Energy.

Ardent Leisure owns and operates leisure assets including theme parks in Australia with a growing portfolio of entertainment venues in the US. The company reported its FY2021 results in August, announcing strong earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) of $67.3 million, a 165.6% increase on the prior year, driven primarily by a strong recovery in its US business and cost-effective management across the group. Main Event, which is Ardent Leisure's entertainment business spread out across 43 centres in the US, posted a 3.2% increase in revenue from the prior year, with constant centre revenue performance in the last two quarters of FY2021 exceeding FY2019 pre-coronavirus levels. The business benefitted from pent-up demand and the accelerated vaccine rollout in the US during the second half of FY2021, offsetting the softer performance seen during the first half of the year. While disruptions caused by the coronavirus has subdued its theme park traffic in Australia in FY2021, we remain positive on the trajectory of Ardent Leisure's growth, driven by the continued momentum in the US.

Iris Energy reported its intention to list on the NASDAQ late 2021. Iris Energy is an Australian company that owns and operates real assets, including data centre infrastructure, powered by renewable energy, which it currently utilises to sustainably mine Bitcoin. WAM Microcap first invested in Iris Energy in November 2020 through a convertible note. The holding represented 1.0% of the portfolio as at 30 June 2021. The recently reported valuation of Iris Energy in a recent newspaper article refers to a pro forma equity valuation of the company of up to USD1.5 billion. The proposed IPO of Iris Energy would face a number of steps, including NASDAQ approvals. WAM Microcap continues to value Iris Energy in line with the valuation approach as at 30 June 2021. Once Iris Energy successfully lists on the NASDAQ, WAM Microcap will adopt the quoted last sale price of Iris Energy's shares.

Unique opportunities beyond traditional assets

In August, WAM Alternative Assets was named as one of the top investment picks in Bell Potter's June quarter Listed Investment Companies and Trusts Update. Bell Potter summarised WAM Alternative Assets as a vehicle for investors interested in alternative assets, offering a diverse range of assets, including private equity, real estate and real assets. Bell Potter said the "substantial allocation" in WAM Alternative Assets to agricultural assets and water entitlements may be the driver of future returns for shareholders. The Australian Financial Review covered the report.

Within the WAM Alternative Assets investment portfolio, we believe diversification is important and that the growing variation among infrastructure assets will contribute towards a more resilient portfolio. In a recent roundtable hosted by Investment Magazine and EDHECinfra, Portfolio Manager Dania Zinurova discussed constructing a portfolio with infrastructure assets and how investors can benchmark their returns. The roundtable was covered in an article by Investment Magazine.

We recently held a WAM Alternative Assets focused Investor Update and Q&A webinar with Dania, Wilson Asset Management Chairman and Chief Investment Officer and Director of WAM Alternative Assets Geoff Wilson AO, Director and Investment Committee Member Adrian Siew and Managing Director of Adamantem Capital Rob Koczkar. W | A | M Strategic Value

Discounted asset opportunities.

The WAM Strategic Value investment portfolio increased during the month, with significant contributors including Milton Corporation (ASX: MLT), Templeton Global Growth Fund (ASX: TGG) and Antipodes Global Investment Company (ASX: APL). We also provide an update on our investment in Magellan High Conviction Trust (ASX: MHH).

In August, the Magellan High Conviction Trust moved from a closed-end listed investment trust (LIT) to an exchange traded fund (ETF). We have since exited our position in Magellan, at its underlying asset backing. WAM Strategic Value recorded a weighted average annualised return on our investment in the Magellan High Conviction Trust of 117.6%.

Milton is a listed investment company (LIC) that listed in 1958. In June, Milton announced a merger with Washington H. Soul Pattinson and Co. (ASX: SOL, WHSP) to create a LIC with $11 billion in assets, offering shareholders scale, liquidity and a wider range of asset classes. We believe the expansion of its capital base by merging with WHSP represents a compelling deal for Milton shareholders. In August, the Federal Court of Australia approved the despatch of the Scheme Booklet and the convening of a Milton Scheme Meeting, where shareholders will be able to vote on the proposed merger. We support Milton and WHSP's merger and believe it to be in the best interest of both Milton and WHSP shareholders over the long-term.

In August, Templeton Global Growth Fund and WAM Global received approval from the Supreme Court of New South Wales for the despatch of the Scheme Booklet and the convening of a TGG Scheme meeting in relation to the proposed merger with WAM Global. TGG will convene a meeting of its shareholders on 29 September 2021, where shareholders can vote to approve the proposed merger, together with a general meeting for shareholder approval of an equal access buyback for TGG shareholders. The TGG Board unanimously recommend that shareholders vote in favour of the Scheme and the buyback, subject to the Independent Expert report continuing to find the merger to be in the best interest of TGG shareholders.

Antipodes Global Investment Company provides shareholders with exposure to an actively managed, long-short portfolio of global shares with a currency overlay. In August, the company and investment management firm Pinnacle Fund Services Limited announced a scheme of arrangement, under which Antipodes shareholders can exchange their shares in the company for units in AGX1, an existing open-ended active exchange traded fund. While we support Antipodes' initiative to close its persistent discount to NTA, we prefer the LIC and listed investment trust (LIT) structure across the industry and believe it presents greater benefits for shareholders. In its full year results, Antipodes reported an operating profit after tax of $75.1 million and investment portfolio performance of 21.3%, with a fully franked full year dividend of 6.0 cents per share.

Market mispricing opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Active investment portfolio increased during the month, with significant contributors to the investment portfolio performance including online automotive marketplace carsales.com (ASX: CAR) and integrated services company Downer EDI (ASX: DOW).

carsales.com operates the largest online automotive, motorcycle and marine classified business in Australia. In its August result, the company announced adjusted FY2021 earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) grew by 10% on the prior year and the highest annual growth in net profit after tax (NPAT) in seven years. Car buyers and sellers in Australia, South Korea and Brazil used its sites at record levels as the coronavirus pandemic has accelerated migration to digital platforms for car sales. During the year, carsales.com announced the 49% acquisition of Trader Interactive, a US-based marketplace business that has a leading position in the recreational vehicle, powersports, commercial truck and equipment markets.

Downer EDI designs, builds and sustains assets, infrastructure and facilities primarily in Australia and New Zealand. During the month, Downer EDI reported a better-than-expected FY2021 result, delivering a 21.4% rise in underlying net profit after tax and before amortisation of acquired intangible assets to $261.2 million and a 6.2% jump in earnings before interest, taxes and amortisation (EBITA) in its transport business to $250.2 million. Profits in its facilities business also rose, up 12.1% to $140.0 million, as the company secured additional coronavirus cleaning contracts. The company resumed its dividend payment as it declared a FY2021 final dividend of 12 cents per share, bringing the full year dividend to 21 cents per share. We believe the outlook for Downer EDI remains strong, as Australia's post-pandemic recovery consisting of increased spending on infrastructure and defence projects will likely boost demand for the company's services.
