Dear Fellow Shareholders,

In August, the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) held its cash rate at 4.1% as Australian equities softened following underwhelming guidance from companies throughout reporting season. Globally, inflation, economic data from China and the US Federal Reserve's July meeting weighed on investor confidence with the MSCI World Index in USD terms closing down 2.3%. The US Dollar appreciation against the Australian Dollar led to the MSCI World Index (AUD) to close up 1.6%, while the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index fell 0.7% during the month.

Wilson Asset Management Leaders Fund Roadshows

Please join me and Portfolio Managers Matthew Haupt and John Ayoub as we discuss the market outlook, the stocks we are buying and the details of our new unlisted fund, Wilson Asset Management Leaders Fund at our upcoming roadshows.

W | A | M Alternative Assets

The WAM Alternative Assets (ASX: WMA) investment portfolio decreased during the month, primarily driven by a valuation provision against venture capital investments that was taken up as part of the preparation of the Company's FY2023 annual report in light of current market circumstances prevalent. The decrease in the investment portfolio for the month was also driven by the underlying performance of its real assets investments.

The WAM Alternative Assets investment portfolio benefits from its exposure to infrastructure through the investment in Palisade's Diversified Infrastructure Fund (PDIF), managed by Palisade Investment Partners. The investment in PDIF provides the WAM Alternative Assets investment portfolio with a steady, reliable and inflation-linked income yield. PDIF invests across sectors such as transport, renewable energy, social infrastructure, digital infrastructure and includes quality and established infrastructure assets. PDIF delivered solid returns for the 2023 financial year consisting of approximately 60% income and 40% capital growth. Valuations of most assets within the portfolio benefitted from higher near-term inflation due to their linkage to inflation.

The WAM Alternative Assets investment portfolio's exposure to water entitlements and agriculture is managed by its investment partner, Argyle Capital. The Argyle Water Fund consists of a portfolio of Australian water entitlements, which are the perpetual legal rights to water usage for irrigation purposes. During the month, the carrying value of the Argyle Water Fund declined slightly due to a decrease in water entitlement values. The Strategic Australian Agriculture Fund (SAAF) consists of a portfolio of Australian water entitlements, farmland and associated businesses and agriculture infrastructure. Investments in water entitlements and agriculture are supported by strong long-term tailwinds, such as growing demand for food, scarce land and water resources, increasing transport costs and frequent adverse weather conditions. The asset class has embedded inflation protection due to the high correlation with food inflation and its investment returns have a low-to-negative correlation to other asset classes. One of the larger underlying assets in the SAAF is Nericon Citrus, also known as Griffith Citrus Aggregation, a citrus farm in New South Wales which is approximately 516 hectares in size. Plantings consist predominantly of high-value table citrus and the property includes water irrigation entitlements. The Argyle Capital team has been enhancing the asset and the performance of the plantings through capital improvements, providing a strong outlook for the Nericon Citrus farm. The Australian Financial Review featured Argyle Capital in an article on agricultural land and water entitlements.

The WAM Capital (ASX: WAM) investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included automotive products manufacturer and distributor GUD Holdings (ASX: GUD) and telecommunications company TPG Telecom (ASX: TPG).

GUD Holdings owns a portfolio of companies in the automotive aftermarket and accessories sector. In August, the company announced its FY2023 results, noting a 27% increase in its underlying earnings before interest, taxes and amortisation (EBITA) to $191.1 million, driven by organic growth of 6.5% and full-year contributions from acquisitions. Pleasingly, GUD Holdings beat earnings expectations and was able to reduce inventory levels which eased the market concerns around its balance sheet. We believe that inflationary pressures for the business have eased and expect a strong organic growth profile over the medium term to drive a re-rating of the share price.

TPG Telecom owns well-known communication brands including Vodafone, TPG, iiNet, AAPT, Internode, Lebara and felix mobile, and operates Australia-wide mobile and fixed-line networks. During the month, TPG Telecom confirmed that it had received an indicative, highly conditional, non-binding offer from Vocus Group to acquire certain enterprise, government and wholesale assets and associated fixed infrastructure assets for approximately $6.3 billion. TPG Telecom also announced its results for the half-year ended 30 June 2023, noting a 4.5% increase in its service revenue to $2,288 million and a 12.4% increase in its earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) to $941 million. TPG Telecom also upgraded its FY2023 EBITDA guidance to between $1,925 million and $1,950 million, up from its previous guidance of between $1,850 million and $1,950 million. The upgraded FY2023 EBITDA guidance was pleasing to see and we look forward to receiving further updates around the proposed transaction in the coming months which may provide a further catalyst for a share price re-rating.

Fully franked dividends since inception

The Board declared a final fully franked dividend of 7.75 cents per share payable on 31 October 2023. The Company's ability to continue paying fully franked dividends at the current level is dependent on generating additional profits reserves, through positive investment portfolio performance in FY2024, and franking credits. The ability to generate additional franking credits is reliant on the receipt of franked dividends from investee companies and the payment of tax on profits.

W | A | M Leaders

The WAM Leaders (ASX: WLE) investment portfolio decreased during the month. A contributor to the investment portfolio performance was Domino's Pizza Enterprises (ASX: DMP) while BHP Group (ASX: BHP) was a detractor.

Domino's Pizza Enterprises holds the exclusive Master Franchise Agreement for the Domino's brand and network in multiple countries across Europe and Asia and in Australia and New Zealand, which allows Domino's Pizza Enterprises to own, operate and franchise Domino's stores. Domino's Pizza Enterprises was one of our key strategic holdings into the FY2023 full year results as we saw market expectations tempered by a soft macroeconomic environment, elevated commodity prices and the company's balance sheet leverage. The company delivered a solid result relieving most of these concerns and provided confidence in the outlook as same store sales growth momentum started to return in Australia, New Zealand and across Europe. We have since slightly reduced our weighting, however we continue to hold Domino's Pizza Enterprises as we expect improved sales growth and therefore, enhanced franchisee profitability to reaccelerate store rollouts. Combined with the company's prudent cost controls, this will drive a gradual recovery in the company's valuation.

BHP Group is one of the largest global diversified mining companies with exposure to iron ore, copper, coal, nickel and potash across multiple geographies. The company has a number of growth options including the Jansen potash project and Western Australia Iron Ore (WAIO) production. BHP Group provided a higher-than-expected FY2024 costs and capital expenditure guidance during the month, which led to a marginal downward earnings revision impacting the company's share price in August. We strategically increased our weighting reflecting our confidence in the company's long-term prospects supported by strong operational performance and the ability to rebound strongly in response to an improvement in market conditions. Over the past week, we saw signs of more accommodative policy measures out of China, which we anticipate will see the share price begin to reflect higher iron ore prices. We believe the current valuation is reasonably attractive, and its main commodity exposures iron ore and copper prices, which have held up well, also provide downside protections to the share price.

The WAM Global (ASX: WGB) investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the MSCI World Index (AUD). Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included software provider Intuit (NASDAQ: INTU) and financial and commodity markets exchange Intercontinental Exchange (NYSE: ICE).

Intuit is a leading provider of small business accounting and consumer tax preparation software. The business also provides small businesses and consumers with payments, payroll, financial management, compliance, and marketing products and services. The company operates through the QuickBooks, TurboTax, Credit Karma and MailChimp brands. In late August, Intuit reported its fourth-quarter result, reporting revenues of USD2.7 billion, up 12% year-on-year, and a 50% increase year-on-year in earnings per share (EPS), both of which were above market expectations. The company provided guidance for the coming year which points to a continuation of strong growth in its QuickBooks Online ecosystem, as well as an attractive opportunity to roll out generative AI solutions in both its small business and consumer software end markets. Our view is that management have been prudently conservative in setting their guidance and we see earnings upside as a catalyst to drive the share price over coming quarters.

Intercontinental Exchange is a leading provider of financial exchanges, mortgage software and data services. The company's exchange business holds strong, global leading positions in a range of asset classes including commodities, interest rates, equities, derivatives and currencies. With the recently completed acquisition of Black Knight, Intercontinental Exchange is set to have an end-to-end digital mortgage origination and servicing technology offering, with significant growth and value-creation opportunities that come from digitising this very large, underpenetrated market. In August, Intercontinental Exchange reported its second-quarter result, with revenue of USD1.9 billion and adjusted EPS growing 8% year-on-year to USD1.43 per share, both above market expectations. In our view, the management team, led by Chief Executive Officer and Founder Jeff Sprecher, has navigated the decline in the mortgage refinancing market well and is set to benefit as this ceases to be a headwind in the coming quarters. Combined with an attractive valuation for such an impressive set of businesses, we see catalysts to unlock value through the integration of the Black Knight deal and through continued strong operational execution.

The Board declared a final fully franked dividend of 5.75cps payable on 27 October 2023. The Company's ability to continue paying fully franked dividends is dependent on generating additional franking credits through the payment of tax on profits in FY2024. Currently, the franking account balance of the Company is able to fully frank the final dividend and partially frank the interim dividend assuming it's 5.75cps. If no additional franking is generated through the performance of the investment portfolio and the payment of tax on profits, the Company will only be able to partially frank future dividends or pay unfranked dividends in FY2024 and beyond.

W | A | M Microcap

The WAM Microcap (ASX: WMI) investment portfolio decreased during the month. Health services group Healthia (ASX: HLA) was a contributor to the investment portfolio performance, while tertiary education services provider NextEd Group (ASX: NXD) was a detractor.

Healthia is a health care company which operates optometry, podiatry and physiotherapy clinics. In August, Healthia announced that it had entered into a scheme implementation deed with Harold BidCo, an entity owned by Pacific Equity Partners, to acquire 100% of the share capital in Healthia by way of a scheme of arrangement. The cash consideration of $1.80 per Healthia share represented a 72.8% premium to the 3-month volume weighted average price (VWAP) to 30 August 2023. We believe the scheme provides shareholders with attractive value.

NextEd Group operates a group of 10 private tertiary education businesses and a global international student recruitment agency. Earlier in the month, the company provided a negative trading update on the emerging implications of the Australian government's temporary activity visa (subclass 408) which provides onshore non-residents unlimited working rights for 12 months without study. NextEd Group has observed its students currently enrolled in the English language intensive course are studying for shorter durations, and fewer students of the course are progressing into vocational courses, which caused earnings to be lower than expected and NextEd Group's share price to fall 29% following the update. Later in the month, the Australian government announced that the temporary visa would be revoked, causing NextEd Group's share price to increase 35%. Despite the company being a detractor to the investment portfolio performance and having a volatile month for its share price, the cancellation of the temporary visa presents itself as a major positive development for the company.

W | A | M Strategic Value

The WAM Strategic Value (ASX: WAR) investment portfolio decreased during the month. The investment portfolio's allocation to direct discount assets including AMP (ASX: AMP), Lark Distilling Co. (ASX: LRK) and Global Data Centres (ASX: GDC) provided positive performance throughout the month while the slight widening of share price discounts to net tangible assets (NTA) for a number of the listed investment companies (LICs) and listed investment trusts (LITs) within the investment portfolio detracted from the investment portfolio performance in August.

AMP is a provider of superannuation and investment products, financial advice and banking products in Australia and New Zealand. AMP's share price increased 11.9% during the month as the company delivered better-than-anticipated results for the half year ended 30 June 2023. In addition to reducing costs during the first half of calendar year 2023, AMP reached an agreement to settle a shareholder class action with the settlement amount being met by available insurance proceeds. AMP continues to utilise available cash for accretive capital management initiatives. Since August 2022, $610 million has been returned to shareholders with a further $140 million expected to be returned by October 2023 through the payment of the interim dividend and a residual on-market buy-back. We believe that the settlement of the class action, continued effort to simplify the business and reduce costs, as well as further capital management initiatives commencing later this year will continue to drive share price performance in the medium term.

The VGI Partners Global Investments (ASX: VG1) share price declined 6.2% during the month, adjusted for the 5.0 cents per share dividend that was declared, with the share price discount to NTA widening in August. During the month, the Board of VGI Partners Global Investments announced a renewal of the on-market share buy-back and the on-market acquisition of shares to facilitate the dividend reinvestment plan (DRP). In addition, the investment manager, Regal Partners and Chief Investment Officer Philip King became substantial shareholders acquiring 7.8 million shares on 1 August, increasing their stake in the company to 6.38%. For the six months to June 2023, VGI Partners Global Investments generated a net return of 19.7% with an average net equity exposure of 72%. Uniquely, VGI Partners Global Investments remains fully hedged to Australian dollars (AUD) as it takes an active view on the AUD. While we believe that the improved investment portfolio performance, capital management initiatives and the continued acquisition of shares by key executives will assist in narrowing the share price discount to NTA over the medium term, the emergence of Saba Capital, a US based activist investor, as a substantial shareholder may provide a near term catalyst for liquidity at or near NTA.

Look-through NTA before tax

The Australian Accounting standards require the Company's pre-tax NTA to be calculated based on the market price (or share price) of the underlying investment portfolio. The Company's look-through pre-tax NTA is an estimation of the Company's pre-tax NTA calculated using the estimated or most recently available pre-tax NTA of the underlying investment portfolio as at the end of the month where available. The look-through pre-tax NTA of the Company is indicative only and provides an estimate for investors of the value of the underlying investment portfolio, assuming the share price discount to NTA of the underlying discounted asset opportunities are closed.

The WAM Research (ASX: WAX) investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included automotive products manufacturer and distributor GUD Holdings (ASX: GUD) and residential aged care provider Estia Health (ASX: EHE).

GUD Holdings owns a portfolio of companies in the automotive aftermarket and accessories sector. In August, the company announced its FY2023 results, noting a 27% increase in its underlying earnings before interest, taxes and amortisation (EBITA) to $191.1 million, driven by organic growth of 6.5% and full-year contributions from acquisitions. Pleasingly, GUD Holdings beat earnings expectations and was able to reduce inventory levels which eased the market concerns around its balance sheet. We believe that inflationary pressures for the business have eased and expect a strong organic growth profile over the medium term to drive a re-rating of the share price.

Estia Health is a leading provider of residential aged care in Australia, operating 6,720 residential places across 73 homes in New South Wales, Queensland, South Australia and Victoria. During the month, the company announced that it entered into a scheme implementation agreement with Bain Capital for the acquisition of 100% of its shares by way of a scheme of arrangement. Under the scheme, Estia Health shareholders will receive $3.20 per share, reduced by the amount of any permitted dividends paid, and represents a 52% premium to the one-month volume weighted average price (VWAP) of Estia Health shares to 21 March 2023. We believe the scheme represents significant value to Estia Health shareholders and is a strong endorsement of the company as a leading aged care provider. We have since exited our position in the company following the strong share price performance.

The Board declared a final dividend of 5.0 cents per share, partially franked at 60%, the maximum extent possible with the franking account balance at year end. The Company's ability to continue paying franked dividends in FY2024 is dependent on the future franked dividends received from investee companies held within the WAM Research investment portfolio, and future tax paid on realised profits generated by the investment portfolio. In FY2024, it is anticipated that the franked dividends received from investee companies in the investment portfolio will generate franking to fully frank approximately 2.0 cents per share in a dividend for shareholders and any additional franking would need to be generated through the payment of tax on profits.

The WAM Active (ASX: WAA) investment portfolio increased during the month. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio performance included hotel commerce platform SiteMinder (ASX: SDR) and telecommunications company TPG Telecom (ASX: TPG).

SiteMinder is a leading hotel commerce software provider with offices in nine countries. In August, SiteMinder delivered a 30.5% increase in its total revenue to $151.4 million in its FY2023 results, which was driven by growth in subscription and transactional revenue. The company reiterated its organic revenue growth guidance of 30% in the medium term, and expects its earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) to be profitable moving into the second half of FY2024, which beat analyst expectations. We are pleased to see SiteMinder's ongoing focus on automation in sales, onboarding and support, which frees up resources to be redirected towards innovative initiatives that will drive value to customers through new products and the company's share price.

TPG Telecom owns well-known communication brands including Vodafone, TPG, iiNet, AAPT, Internode, Lebara and felix mobile, and operates Australia-wide mobile and fixed-line networks. During the month, TPG Telecom confirmed that it had received an indicative, highly conditional, non-binding offer from Vocus Group to acquire certain enterprise, government and wholesale assets and associated fixed infrastructure assets for approximately $6.3 billion. TPG Telecom also announced its results for the half-year ended 30 June 2023, noting a 4.5% increase in its service revenue to $2,288 million and a 12.4% increase in its earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) to $941 million. TPG Telecom also upgraded its FY2023 EBITDA guidance to between $1,925 million and $1,950 million, up from its previous guidance of between $1,850 million and $1,950 million. The upgraded FY2023 EBITDA guidance was pleasing to see and we look forward to receiving further updates around the proposed transaction in the coming months which may provide a further catalyst for a share price re-rating.

Fully franked dividends since inception

The Board declared a final fully franked dividend of 3.0 cents per share payable on 16 October 2023. The Company's ability to continue paying fully franked dividends is dependent on generating additional profits reserves and franking credits. The ability to generate franking credits is reliant on the receipt of franked dividends from investee companies and the payment of tax on profits.
