W | A | M Leaders

The WAM Leaders (ASX: WLE) investment portfolio increased during the month, as a sharp fall in bond yields reversed the valuation headwinds of recent months. The decline in bond yields was driven by softer economic data, renewed signs of slowing inflation, and a lower than expected US Treasury funding requirement. This sparked dialogue that the US Federal Reserve might not just be on pause, but may cut interest rates in 2024. The Australian market followed this lead with the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index increasing in November. Contributors to the investment portfolio performance included biotechnology company CSL (ASX: CSL) and software provider Iress (ASX: IRE).

CSL's share price was up strongly during the month, as was the healthcare sector more broadly. Sentiment towards healthcare stocks had reached extreme lows, and small incremental positive news flow was enough to see recent share price support. In November, argenx's (BRU: ARGX) drug candidate VYVGART Hytrulo did not meet its endpoint in a study for the treatment of Primary Immune Thrombocytopenia, an auto-immune disorder. This disorder accounts for approximately 5% of CSL's intravenous immunoglobulin use and is the first major setback of its kind, providing optimism in the outlook for demand for CSL's products. The next catalyst beyond CSL's earnings result is the highly anticipated CSL 112 Phase 3 readout, due early 2024.

Iress provides software and services for trading and market data, financial advice, investment management, mortgages, superannuation, life and pensions, and data intelligence to the global financial services industry. The company is currently undergoing a turnaround through cost efficiencies and divestment of non-core businesses, which will help reduce its leverage and drive future earnings growth. Iress is one of our strategic holdings, given the catalysts that could potentially lead to a material re-rating of the valuation in the near term. Iress provided a trading update during the month, where it highlighted benefits of recent cost cuts and stabilisation in revenues, which led to the company raising its earnings guidance meaningfully. We maintain our positive view on the company as they continue to execute on its strategy.

The WAM Capital (ASX: WAM) investment portfolio increased for the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. KFC and Taco Bell franchisee Collins Foods (ASX: CKF) and online furniture and homewares retailer Temple & Webster (ASX: TPW) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

Collins Foods is a KFC and Taco Bell restaurant operator and franchisee in Australia and Europe. In November, the company reported a strong FY2024 half-year performance, posting a 28.7% year-on-year increase in net profit before tax (NPAT) to $31.2 million which was considerably ahead of market expectations, triggering earnings upgrades. Collins Foods has now exited a challenging period with the brand's success in passing on price increases to its customers to offset inflationary pressures, reflecting on the resiliency of the business category and brand strength. With a reduced net debt and the strength of its brands, the company is well positioned to weather economic challenges whilst generating organic growth via store roll-out and margin expansion. Mergers and acquisitions activity remains a key potential catalyst both within existing and new regions in Europe.

Temple & Webster is a leading online retailer of furniture and homewares. In its annual general meeting during the month, Temple & Webster provided a solid trading update to shareholders. The company noted that its sales from 1 July to 27 November 2023 was up 23% compared to the prior period, while revenue was up 42% year-on-year during the period from 1 October to 27 November. It delivered $17.4 million in sales during its Black Friday and Cyber Monday trading period, up 101% on the prior year. Temple & Webster's balance sheet is in a strong financial position, providing opportunities to undertake accretive acquisitions or capital management. Looking forward, the company remains well positioned to drive ongoing market share gains and accelerate sales growth.

Fully franked dividends since inception

The Company's ability to continue paying fully franked dividends at the current level is dependent on generating additional profits reserves, through positive investment portfolio performance in FY2024, and franking credits. The ability to generate additional franking credits is reliant on the receipt of franked dividends from investee companies and the payment of tax on profits.

W | A | M Global

The WAM Global (ASX: WGB) investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the MSCI World Index (AUD). Software provider Intuit (NASDAQ: INTU) and out-of-home advertising company Ströer (ETR: SAX) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

Intuit is a leading provider of accounting and tax preparation software. Intuit also provides payments, payroll, financial management, compliance and marketing products and services. Intuit reported its fiscal first-quarter result in November, with revenue growth of 15% year-on-year and earnings per share growth of 49% year-on-year, both of which exceeded market expectations. Importantly, Intuit continued to progress its product road map for building artificial intelligence (AI) into its CreditKarma, TurboTax, QuickBooks and Mailchimp product suites. We believe Intuit is set to benefit from AI thanks to the company's data advantage, as well as its industry leading distribution and reach. Intuit is also benefitting from continued investment in product innovation as it sees success in moving towards the mid-market in QuickBooks and in connecting the TurboTax and CreditKarma offerings, with the cross-selling opportunities that it will unlock. Intuit has a significant growth runway over coming years that will drive the earnings power of the business.

Ströer is the leading out of home (OOH) advertising company in Germany, with approximately 60% market share in traditional OOH and approximately 90% market share in digital OOH advertising. In addition to the core business, Ströer operates adjacent businesses in dialog and digital media, as well as high growth assets Statista and Asam Beauty. Management are highly incentivised to create value, with Chief Executive Officer Udo Mueller and former Managing Director Dirk Ströer holding over 40% of the company. This alignment is evident in Ströer's plans to unlock value for shareholders by divesting both Statista and Asam Beauty. Ströer reported solid third-quarter results in November, with impressive outperformance of the broader German advertising market, which declined 2% year-on-year, against Ströer's OOH business growing 7% per annum, driven by 28% growth year-on-year in digital. Asam Beauty showed continued strong operational performance and management indicated further progress towards divestment. Going forward, we believe our holding in Ströer will benefit from the catalysts of divestitures and continued outperformance of the broader German advertising market.

The Company's ability to continue paying fully franked dividends is dependent on generating additional franking credits through the payment of tax on profits in FY2024. Currently, the franking account balance of the Company is able to fully frank the final dividend and partially frank the interim dividend assuming it's 5.75 cents per share. If no additional franking is generated through the performance of the investment portfolio and the payment of tax on profits, the Company will only be able to partially frank future dividends or pay unfranked dividends in FY2024 and beyond.

The WAM Microcap (ASX: WMI) investment portfolio increased during the month. Sustainable waste stream solutions company Close the Loop (ASX: CLG) and Tuas (ASX: TUA), which owns and operates a mobile network and provides telecommunications services in Singapore, were contributors to the investment portfolio performance.

With locations across Australia, Europe, South Africa and the US, Close the Loop creates innovative products and packaging from recycled content. In November, Close the Loop's subsidiary, ISP Tek Services, announced that it secured an exclusive multi-year contract with HP Inc. The agreement encompasses several product lines and introduces a revenue-sharing model aimed at enhancing profitability by expanding ISP Tek Services' offerings to other operational jurisdictions. During the month, the company also provided a first-quarter update during its annual general meeting (AGM) where it noted the group was tracking ahead of its FY2024 earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) guidance of $43.0 million. We are pleased to see Close the Loop reduce its net debt by $2.5 million as at the end of the first quarter of FY2024 and expect it to continue decreasing moving forward.

Tuas operates in the Singaporean mobile telecommunications market. In November, Tuas announced a strong FY2024 first-quarter update, noting sustained growth in its primary mobile business in Singapore. The company's mobile active services increased by almost 60,000 over the quarter to 879,000 as at 31 October 2023, while revenue increased by 41% year-on-year to $26.7 million. Its EBITDA increased by 67% year-on-year to $11.0 million, reflecting its strong operating leverage. We are positive on Tuas' ability to continue expanding its services, with the company announcing that the upcoming launch of its 5G and fixed broadband services is on track for delivery. We continue to believe the market is underestimating the strong runway for growth and cash generation, whilst earnings accretive acquisitions could provide a catalyst over time for a share price rerating given expectations of market consolidation.

W | A | M Alternative Assets

The WAM Alternative Assets (ASX: WMA) investment portfolio decreased during the month, primarily driven by the underlying performance of its private equity investments and the decrease in the value of private equity investments denominated in US dollars following the appreciation of the Australian dollar.

In November, WAM Alternative Assets invested $5 million in Healthcare Australia (HCA), a private equity co-investment opportunity introduced by one of our investment partners, Crescent Capital Partners. HCA is Australia's largest healthcare workforce solutions provider, supplying clinical and care labour to the acute care, aged care, disability and government healthcare sectors. HCA has an entrenched position within the healthcare market as the largest nursing agency nationally and its national platform and unparalleled scale attracts more workers who in turn attract more customers in a virtuous cycle. Access to qualified healthcare workers is one of the most scarce and valuable commodities in the healthcare sector. Crescent has identified opportunities to continue to expand HCA's range of services to customers as healthcare providers look to outsource and adopt more digital technologies in service provision and workforce management. This investment highlights WAM Alternative Assets' focus on one of its long-term investment themes, a growing ageing population, and as a result, increasing demand for healthcare services.

During the month, Palisade Investment Partners announced that it had completed the acquisition of Lightcurve (formerly known as Rainier Connect), a last-mile fibre and hybrid fibre coaxial broadband provider in the Tacoma region in Washington State, approximately 60km from Seattle. Consistent with their active asset management approach, Palisade plans to upgrade the current network and make additional investments in expansion markets across several Washington State counties. Palisade also recently announced a bolt-on acquisition of the Washington properties of Consolidated Communications Inc., furthering the creation of a regional platform for fibre and high-speed broadband connectivity. The WAM Alternative Assets investment portfolio has exposure to this asset through its investment in Palisade's Diversified Infrastructure Fund, a high quality portfolio of mature infrastructure assets principally in Australia with the ability to invest up to 20% globally.

W | A | M Strategic Value

The WAM Strategic Value (ASX: WAR) investment portfolio increased in November, as domestic and global equity markets rebounded strongly following consecutive monthly declines in September and October. As reported in recent monthly investment updates, the investment portfolio demonstrated defensive characteristics during volatile market conditions and it has been pleasing to see the underlying holdings in the portfolio performing positively alongside the market rebound. The investment portfolio continues to outperform the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index in the financial year to date.

The WAM Strategic Value investment portfolio's 55.3% exposure to global listed investment companies (LICs) and listed investment trusts (LITs) contributed to investment portfolio performance in November, with the majority of the global LICs and LITs held in the investment portfolio experiencing share price gains during the month. Investments in Magellan Global Fund (ASX: MGF), Pengana International Equities (ASX: PIA) and WAM Global (ASX: WGB) returned 6.6%, 5.5% and 6.3% respectively.

We believe there will be a period of activism and corporate activity with restructures and capital management as overseas hedge funds start appearing on LIC and LIT registers agitating for change. During the month Saba Capital Group increased their holding in Pengana International Equities to 6.05%, which WAM Strategic Value is already a substantial shareholder. WAM Strategic Value also became a substantial shareholder in VGI Partners Global Investments (ASX: VG1) in November.

The WAM Strategic Value investment portfolio also benefited from strong performance from small holdings in Excelsior Capital (ASX: ECL) and NGE Capital (ASX: NGE) which rose 13.6% and 9.8% respectively. Excelsior Capital announced a share sale and purchase agreement in relation to CMI Operations, a wholly owned subsidiary of Excelsior Capital. The sale proceeds of up to $101.0 million represents approximately 300% increase when compared to the prior months carrying value. NGE Capital offers investors exposure to an actively managed, concentrated portfolio of high conviction investments. NGE Capital's share price discount to net tangible asset (NTA) reduced from 22.1% to 17.8% during the month. NGE Capital has provided investors with strong NTA growth returning 22.0% for the 12 months to 30 November 2023 and 11.5% per annum since inception in 30 November 2016 and we believe the share price discount to NTA will continue to narrow.

Look-through NTA before tax

The Australian Accounting standards require the Company's pre-tax NTA to be calculated based on the market price (or share price) of the underlying investment portfolio. The Company's look-through pre-tax NTA is an estimation of the Company's pre-tax NTA calculated using the estimated or most recently available pre-tax NTA of the underlying investment portfolio as at the end of the month where available. The look-through pre-tax NTA of the Company is indicative only and provides an estimate for investors of the value of the underlying investment portfolio, assuming the share price discount to NTA of the underlying discounted asset opportunities are closed.

W | A | M Research

The WAM Research (ASX: WAX) investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Online furniture and homewares retailer Temple & Webster Group (ASX: TPW) and global games company Light & Wonder (ASX: LNW) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

Temple & Webster is a leading online retailer of furniture and homewares. In its annual general meeting during the month, Temple & Webster provided a solid trading update to shareholders. The company noted that its sales from 1 July to 27 November 2023 was up 23% compared to the prior period, while revenue was up 42% year-on-year during the period from 1 October to 27 November. It delivered $17.4 million in sales during its Black Friday and Cyber Monday trading period, up 101% on the prior year. Temple & Webster's balance sheet is in a strong financial position, providing opportunities to undertake accretive acquisitions or capital management. Looking forward, the company remains well positioned to drive ongoing market share gains and accelerate sales growth.

Light & Wonder is a global gaming company. During the month, Light & Wonder announced its third-quarter FY2023 results, demonstrating its tenth consecutive quarter of consolidated revenue growth, rising 13% year-on-year with double-digit growth across all segments, including Gaming, iGaming and SciPlay. The company has hired over 60 former employees of ASX-listed peer Aristocrat Leisure, including well regarded CEO Matt Wilson, who spent over 15 years at the company. Since joining Light & Wonder, Matt has brought a business strategy similar to what drove the success of Aristocrat Leisure, significantly lifting investment in game design, content and monetising across multiple platforms. We believe the company is approaching an inflection point, with strong signs of success in recent game launches and forward indicators such as industry surveys highlighting the opportunity for market share gains. We believe the company is undervalued versus global peers and see the potential for earnings upgrades at its full-year result in January.

Dividends since inception

The Company's ability to continue paying franked dividends in FY2024 is dependent on the future franked dividends received from investee companies held within the WAM Research investment portfolio, and future tax paid on realised profits generated by the investment portfolio. In FY2024, it is anticipated that the franked dividends received from investee companies in the investment portfolio will generate franking to fully frank approximately 2.0 cents per share in a dividend for shareholders and any additional franking would need to be generated through the payment of tax on profits.

The WAM Active (ASX: WAA) investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. KFC and Taco Bell franchisee Collins Foods (ASX: CKF) and marine service provider MMA Offshore (ASX: MRM) were contributors to the investment portfolio.

Collins Foods is a KFC and Taco Bell restaurant operator and franchisee in Australia and Europe. In November, the company reported a strong FY2024 half-year performance, posting a 28.7% year-on-year increase in net profit before tax (NPAT) to $31.2 million which was considerably ahead of market expectations, triggering earnings upgrades. Collins Foods has now exited a challenging period with the brand's success in passing on price increases to its customers to offset inflationary pressures, reflecting on the resiliency of the business category and brand strength. With a reduced net debt and the strength of its brands, the company is well positioned to weather economic challenges whilst generating organic growth via store roll-out and margin expansion. Mergers and acquisitions activity remains a key potential catalyst both within existing and new regions in Europe.

MMA Offshore is an Australian marine service provider with operations in Australia, South East Asia, the United Kingdom, the Middle East and Africa. During the month, MMA Offshore announced a strong trading update, with earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) for the first half of the financial year expected to be in the range of $55 to $60 million, driving material earnings upgrades. Its vessels, subsea and project logistics divisions all delivered higher-than-expected earnings for the first four months of the financial year, while maintaining contracted revenue. MMA Offshore also announced in November that it secured a significant contract with Timor Gap Drilling And Services to provide offshore decommissioning services in Timor-Leste. The outlook for MMA Offshore remains strong, underpinned by an ongoing hardening in contract rates given strong underlying demand from both the traditional oil and gas sector along with emerging renewables opportunities.
