W | A | M Global

The WAM Global (ASX: WGB) investment portfolio increased in February, outperforming the MSCI World Index (AUD). Contributors to investment portfolio outperformance include leading derivatives marketplace CME Group (NASDAQ: CME) and multi-asset class electronic trading company Tradeweb (NASDAQ: TW).

CME Group is a leading financial exchange providing futures and options trading for interest rates, energy, equities, FX and commodities. Due to its scale, CME Group offers deep liquidity pools in key product areas, reducing market participants' cost to manage risk and creating barriers to entry that enable CME Group to earn over 55% net income margins. In addition, as a beneficiary of uncertainty, it has attractive characteristics that provide downside protection. In February, CME Group reported second quarter results that exceeded both revenue and earnings expectations. The company grew revenues 19% on the prior comparative quarter to $1.4 billion and adjusted earnings per share (EPS) increased 23% on the prior comparative quarter to $2.37 per share. Management are operating the business well, with strong cost control in the quarter and guided for the year ahead. Strong operating performance has continued into 2024, with February average daily volume tracking ahead of market expectations and continuing the positive momentum for the business. These positive results, combined with continued cost discipline, provide confidence that our holding in CME Group will continue to perform well over time.

Tradeweb is a leader in building and operating electronic marketplaces for interest rates, credit, equities and money markets connecting institutional, wholesale and retail clients globally. The company benefits from the secular shift towards the electronification of fixed income markets which is still in its infancy. Tradeweb has an outstanding track record of innovation with new trading protocols, automation and workflow solutions, combined with a client-centric sales approach which has led to improvements in its market share. This was validated with its strong fourth-quarter earnings result announced in February where it reported 26.3% increase in quarterly revenues on the prior comparative period while improving its earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) margin. We are excited about the earnings potential for Tradeweb. We continue to see upside potential from the normalisation of interest rates, an expanding United States government deficit and reduction in size of the United States Federal Reserve Balance Sheet.

Fully franked dividends since inception

The Board declared a fully franked interim dividend of 6.0 cents per share payable on 29 April 2024. As an Australian company, WAM Global generates franking credits through the payment of tax on profits, and does not receive franking credits from global investee companies. If no additional franking is generated through the performance of the investment portfolio and the payment of tax on profits, the Company will only be able to partially frank future dividends or pay unfranked dividends to shareholders.

The WAM Capital (ASX: WAM) investment portfolio increased for the month, strongly outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Furniture retailer Nick Scali (ASX: NCK) and fleet management solutions provider SG Fleet Group (ASX: SGF) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

Nick Scali is one of Australia's largest furniture retailers. In February, the company announced its FY2024 half-year results which beat market expectations. Nick Scali achieved a net profit after tax (NPAT) of $43 million for the half year, which was above the $40 to $42 million guidance provided late last year, driven by improved gross profit margins. The company also noted a 3.6% increase in sales orders in January on the prior comparative period, exceeding analyst expectations. We are pleased to see a solid half-year result from Nick Scali and we are positive on its ability to execute its long-term target of establishing 86 Nick Scali stores and 90 to 100 Plush stores. We also see the potential for earnings accretive acquisitions outside Australia given the company's strong balance sheet.

SG Fleet Group provides fleet management, vehicle leasing and salary packaging services. During the month, SG Fleet Group reported its FY2024 half-year results, which materially beat analyst estimates. The company reported an 8.5% increase in its NPAT compared to the prior corresponding period, driven by record delivery volumes and improved supply of new vehicles. We remain positive on SG Fleet Group's ability to maintain its positive momentum over the next 12 months as it finalises the completion of the Leaseplan acquisition made in 2021. The company is trading at an attractive price-to-earnings multiple valuation of 9 times compared to its closest peer which trades on 15 times, therefore we see the potential for a rerating of the share price.

Dividends since inception

The Board declared an interim dividend of 7.75 cents per share, partially franked at 60%, payable on 30 April 2024. The Company's ability to continue paying franked dividends at the current level is dependent on generating additional profits reserves, through positive investment portfolio performance in FY2024, and franking credits. The ability to generate additional franking credits is reliant on the receipt of franked dividends from investee companies and the payment of tax on realised profits.

W | A | M Leaders

The WAM Leaders (ASX: WLE) investment portfolio decreased during the month. Market expectations for rate cuts by the US Federal Reserve were scaled back as inflation remained stubborn and the employment market remained resilient. This contributed to the US 10-year Treasury yield climbing back to levels of pre-December bond rallies. Despite this, the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index saw modest inclines driven by the a respectable reporting season. Australian reporting season saw a large dispersion in sector returns, with the technology sector leading with an outsized return of 19.5%, while the energy sector lagged. A contributor to the investment portfolio during the month was WiseTech Global (ASX: WTC), while Santos (ASX: STO) was a detractor.

WiseTech delivered a strong result, demonstrating its ability to integrate its recently acquired businesses, Blume and Envase, without losing its organic growth momentum, while also remaining diligent on costs and surprising the market to the upside on margin outlook. The company also announced three major new customer wins in the Asian region during the period, including Sinotrans, a large Chinese shipping company, bringing WiseTech's share of the top 25 global freight forwarders to 13. This validates the value proposition of WiseTech's core software platform CargoWise and its continued traction in the core global freight forwarding market. We remain positive on WiseTech as we see the company continuing to gain market share in a large industry, led by its technology platform and new product launches as the company continues to invest in its product and technology for future growth.

Santos' headline results came in slightly below market expectations, mainly driven by other costs including inventory and foreign exchange movements. However, the company reiterated the full-year guidance and declared outsized dividends well ahead of expectations. Santos is also committed to reducing the value gap to the underlying asset base and returning incremental cash flow to shareholders. We remain constructive on Santos as we see the company being catalyst rich, including potential strategic structural changes, as well as successful project executions in Barossa and Alaska, which will de-lever the balance sheet and further improve free cash flow performance.

W | A | M Microcap

The WAM Microcap (ASX: WMI) investment portfolio increased for the month, strongly outperforming the S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Software as a service (SaaS) platform Ansarada Group (ASX: AND) and online luxury fashion retailer Cettire (ASX: CTT) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

Ansarada Group provides software services to companies, advisors and governments to assist in deals and transaction management, board management, compliance and infrastructure procurement. In February, Ansarada Group announced that it had entered into a Scheme Implementation Deed with one of its off-shore competitors, Datasite, a SaaS platform that assists enterprises to manage workflow automation and efficiencies. Through the Scheme of Arrangement, Datasite will acquire 100% of the shares in Ansarada Group for $2.50 per share, representing a 57.1% premium to Ansarada Group's six-month volume weighted average price. While we believe the offer undervalues the company, we recognise the certainty of value the cash offer delivers to its shareholders.

Cettire is a global online retailer with an extensive catalogue of more than 2,500 luxury brands and more than 500,000 products, including clothing, shoes, bags and accessories. During the month, Cettire announced its better-than-expected FY2024 half-year results, reporting gross revenue of $460.5 million, a 90% increase compared to the prior corresponding period. Its sales revenue also increased by 89% and active customers was up 83%, proving to be the strongest trading half since Cettire completed its initial public offering. With its largest competitor in the sector FarFetch struggling, we see a significant opportunity for Cettire to take market share over the course of the year and see the potential for further earnings upgrades.

W | A | M Alternative Assets

The WAM Alternative Assets (ASX: WMA) investment portfolio increased during the month, primarily driven by the underlying performance of its private equity investments.

WAM Alternative Assets' private equity investment partner, Crescent Capital Partners (Crescent), recently completed the acquisition of two businesses through its Fund VII, being Bremick Fasteners and Pinnacle Rehab. Bremick Fasteners is a leading player in the industrial fasteners market in Australia. The business primarily focuses on self-drilling screws and sells a range of third-party industrial fasteners and anchors. Bremick Fasteners has a long history, with over 50 years of growth as a family-owned business. Crescent brings its expertise, capital and skills to help the company continue its growth journey.

Pinnacle Rehab is a leading workplace rehabilitation provider. Pinnacle provides rehabilitation and case management consulting services under various WorkCover insurance schemes to drive improved return-to-work outcomes. Pinnacle Rehab is accredited by the State Insurance Regulatory Authority and Comcare and is also an iCare appointed Workplace Rehabilitation Provider in NSW. Crescent's investment thesis is to help Pinnacle Rehab further expand their services beyond their core market and drive improvements in the business' operational efficiency. WAM Alternative Assets expects Crescent to draw down from its commitment to Crescent's Fund VII over 2024 for these two acquisitions. We are looking forward to seeing more deals in the Fund VII and further deployment of committed capital on behalf of WAM Alternative Assets shareholders into high quality businesses.

W | A | M Strategic Value

The WAM Strategic Value (ASX: WAR) investment portfolio increased in February, outperforming local equity markets as domestic and global equity markets continued their positive performance. The investment portfolios allocation to listed investment companies (LICs) and listed investment trusts (LITs) focused on investing in global companies provided positive contribution during the month.

Global equities have performed strongly since the start of 2023, reporting gains in 12 out of 14 months. Since December 2022, the MSCI World Index (AUD) has increased 36.0%.

The WAM Strategic Value investment portfolio has a 55.2% allocation to LICs and LITs that invest in global companies. During the month, Magellan Global Fund (ASX: MGF) contributed positively to the investment portfolio outperformance, with the MGF share price increasing 4.0%. In February, the responsible entity (RE) for MGF affirmed the decision to proceed with a conversation of units in the fund from closed class units (ASX: MGF) to open class units (ASX: MGOE). It is expected that a unitholder meeting to obtain approvals for the conversion will take place in June 2024, and subject to unitholder approval, the conversion will be implemented shortly thereafter. The conversion from MGF units to MGOE units will provide investors with the ability to apply for and redeem units directly with the RE at MGF's net asset value (NAV).

WAM Strategic Value initiated buying Magellan Global Fund in December 2021 as the share price discount to NAV approached 20%. During the period the WAM Strategic Value investment portfolio has enjoyed strong performance from Magellan Global Fund, compounded with the closing of the share price discount to NAV.

The Australian Accounting standards require the Company's pre-tax NTA to be calculated based on the market price (or share price) of the underlying investment portfolio. The Company's look-through pre-tax NTA is an estimation of the Company's pre-tax NTA calculated using the estimated or most recently available pre-tax NTA of the underlying investment portfolio as at the end of the month where available. The look-through pre-tax NTA of the Company is indicative only and provides an estimate for investors of the value of the underlying investment portfolio, assuming the share price discount to NTA of the underlying discounted asset opportunities are closed.

The WAM Research (ASX: WAX) investment portfolio increased for the month, strongly outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Fleet management solutions provider SG Fleet Group (ASX: SGF) and construction materials, equipment and service provider Maas Group Holdings (ASX: MGH) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

SG Fleet Group provides fleet management, vehicle leasing and salary packaging services. During the month, SG Fleet Group reported its FY2024 half-year results, which materially beat analyst estimates. The company reported an 8.5% increase in its net profit after tax compared to the prior corresponding period, driven by record delivery volumes and improved supply of new vehicles. We remain positive on SG Fleet Group's ability to maintain its positive momentum over the next 12 months as it finalises the completion of the Leaseplan acquisition made in 2021. The company is trading at an attractive price-to-earnings multiple valuation of 9 times compared to its closest peer which trades on 15 times, therefore we see the potential for a rerating of the share price.

Maas Group Holdings is a leading construction materials, equipment and service provider with exposure to the civil, infrastructure, mining and real estate markets. In February, the company announced its FY2024 half-year results, delivering a 32% increase in its underlying sales revenue and 47% increase in underlying earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA). Its cash flow conversion, which is the company's ability to convert its profit into cash flow, was 110% and beat analyst consensus estimates. Towards the end of the month, Maas Group Holdings announced the sale of its self-storage portfolio to Australian self-storage owner and operator, National Storage REIT. The transaction exceeds their FY2024 asset recycling target of $70 million and will significantly contribute to the deleveraging of its balance sheet. With recent building materials companies CSR, Adbri and Boral under takeover we believe Maas Group Holdings' share price can continue to rerate over the course of the year.

Dividends since inception

The Board declared an interim dividend of 5.0 cents per share, partially franked at 60%, payable on 30 April 2024. The Company's ability to continue paying franked dividends in FY2024 is dependent on the future franked dividends received from investee companies held within the WAM Research investment portfolio, and future tax paid on realised profits generated by the investment portfolio. The WAM Research Board of Directors expects the final dividend to also be partially franked at 60%.

The WAM Active (ASX: WAA) investment portfolio performed strongly during the month. Dairy nutritional company The a2 Milk Company (ASX: A2M) and telecommunications services provider Aussie Broadband (ASX: ABB) were contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

The A2 Milk Company sells milk products containing only the A2 protein type. In February, the company announced its FY2024 half-year results which exceeded market expectations, driven by 3.7% revenue growth. It posted 5.0% growth in earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) and boosted market share in China's infant milk formula market, despite a double-digit decline in the Chinese birth rate. We were pleased to see that The A2 Milk Company declared an increased FY2024 revenue growth guidance from low to low-to-mid single-digit percent on the prior year. We believe that the launch of its new products in the second half of FY2024, which include a2 Gentle Gold, two new English Label infant milk formula products, and fortified milk powder products, positions the company to continue to deliver revenue growth.

Aussie Broadband is a telecommunications and technology company, providing a broad range of solutions to residential, business, enterprise and government customers. During the month, Aussie Broadband announced its FY2024 half-year results, with 17.7% revenue growth and 12.7% EBITDA growth compared to the prior corresponding period. While the results were slightly below market expectations due to the rise in marketing, the positive impact this has had on growth in the subscriber base meant that the company upgraded its full-year earnings guidance. In February, Aussie Broadband also announced it had made a non-binding indicative proposal to acquire 100% of the shares in telecommunication and internet service provider Superloop (ASX: SLC) by way of a Scheme of Arrangement. While Superloop has so far rejected the proposed Scheme of Arrangement, we believe the offer is compelling and brings significant benefits to both Superloop and Aussie Broadband.

Fully franked dividends since inception

The Board declared a fully franked interim dividend of 3.0 cents per share payable on 26 April 2024. The Company's ability to continue paying fully franked dividends is dependent on generating additional profits reserves and franking credits. The ability to generate franking credits is reliant on the receipt of franked dividends from investee companies and the payment of tax on profits.
